search for precision. Its three-part construction creates a compelling sense of depth while meticulously crafted details add a sophisticated touch. The outer ring features a "brick" guilloché pattern, faceted white gold hour-markers and a discreet minutes track composed of 40 hand-applied white gold beads. The central part is crafted from deep blue lapis lazuli, whose gold-colored pyrite flecks inevitably evoke a starry sky. Their natural texture makes each dial unique. Lastly, the 6 o'clock oversized subdial indicating the passing seconds is in mother-of-pearl. This 160-piece limited edition comes with three interchangeable straps.

Corum is back in Swiss hands

This company based in La Chaux-de-Fonds and celebrating its 70th anniversary this year is starting a new chapter in its history. Following a management buyout led by Haso Mehmedovic, the brand is returning to 100% Swiss ownership. Previously International Sales Director, 32-year-old Haso Mehmedovic has surrounded himself with a small group of experienced and knowledgeable Swiss investors from the luxury and finance sectors. The strategic transaction was carried out in a spirit of collaboration and mutual respect with Citychamp Watch & Jewellery Group Limited, the Hong Kong-listed company that had owned Corum since 2013. This paves the way for a restructured organisation led by Haso Mehmedovic as CEO and Chairman of the Board. At his side, a tight-knit, driven team shares the long-term vision: to reignite Corum's creative force and reaffirm its singular identity. All industrial and commercial assets – including patents, intellectual property and archives – will remain in Swiss hands and align with a clear strategic direction. Having joined Corum as a watchmaker in 2011 after completing his CFC at CIFOM in Le Locle, Mehmedovic looks forward to restoring Corum to its former glory and legitimacy. Having worked his way up through every position – from workshop to sales management and then various positions as production and quality manager and market director – he now serves as CEO and Chairman of the Board for a company dear to his heart.

Hautlence Pays Tribute to the 1980s and Unveils its Retrovision '85

In a tribute to the highly imaginative 1980s, Hautlence has unveiled the Retrovision '85, a watch embodying a retro-futuristic aesthetic. Inspired by the iconic design of a famous Japanese Toy manufacturer, it features a titanium case and dial base. This timepiece equipped with the self-winding movement of the Vagabonde Tourbillon (D31) not only offers a time display consisting of hours revolving around a central sapphire minute disc, but also transforms into a robot ready to set off on an adventure.

U-Boat Celebrates its First 25 Years with Chimera 25°

A limited edition watch to celebrate 25 years of boldness, identity, and an uncompromising vision of watchmaking, a pride of "Made in Tuscany" and the creativity, heart, and passion of Italo Fontana. It seems like just a blink of an eye since, in 2000, a young and passionate Italo Fontana decided to embark on this new adventure, drawing inspiration from a barely sketched project by his grandfather Ilvo. 25 years of success have marked the growth and journey of U-BOAT, now synonymous with innovation, tradition, and Tuscan craftsmanship, but above all, an expression of the mind and heart of its founder, Italo Fontana. To celebrate this
